

ABOUT THE AFRICAN CREDIT RATING ASSOCIATION

The African Credit Rating Association (ACRA) is a continental alliance of majority African-owned credit rating agencies and industry leaders dedicated to reshaping how Africa is viewed in global financial markets.

OUR MISSION

Promote independent, transparent, and credible credit assessments

Foster professional development and capacity building

Develop contextually relevant methodologies tailored to Africa's diverse economic realities

ACRA is not just a rating association, but a movement toward financial sovereignty, trust, and sustainable economic growth on the African continent.

SHAPING AFRICA'S FINANCIAL FUTURE

ACRA represents a bold step toward equity and autonomy for the continent. By restoring balance in credit assessments and promoting African ownership of the economic narrative, ACRA is building a fairer global financial system; one where Africa's voice is not only heard but trusted.

WHAT SETS US APART

Uniting African-owned, African-led Agencies

We represent a united front of rating agencies from across the continent — grounded in local realities and accountable to African stakeholders.

Local Expertise, Global Relevance

We develop rating methodologies rooted in African regulatory and developmental contexts — offering the nuance that global agencies often miss.

Promoting Ethical, Transparent Ratings

Our strict Code of Ethics ensures objectivity and independence, helping to rebuild market confidence.

Capacity Building & Collaboration

ACRA supports its members through training, shared resources, and regional cooperation, strengthening the continent's analytical capabilities.
